This is an example of a simple margin note set in the slanted font of the document. If used correctly, the note should print on the side with the command `\inmargin` placed in the text. You will of course want to adjust your margins to accommodate the type.

This is an example of a simple margin note set in the slanted font of the document. If used correctly, the note should print on the side with the command `\inouter` placed in the text. You will of course want to adjust your margins to accommodate the type.