

Contents

This is a test of having the same work¹ mentioned twice in the same document.

If there is only one citation in the paper, then it thinks it can ignore the author altogether, except in the bibliography, so I had to include another work² which may help.

Perhaps the problem is being caused by putting in the footnote manually. But I don't want to have the author's name in the main body of the text.

If I don't put the citations in the footnote style³, the author names are put in the sentences.

This is a test of having the same work⁴, mentioned twice in the same document.

Here is the command I issued. No pdf template needed.

```
pandoc DoubleCommaBugv6.txt --toc --variable mainfont="DejaVu Serif" --csl=../../csl/modern-humanit
```

Lastname, Firstname, Long Title; That Could Be Abbrev (London: Fictional, 2016)

Surname, Firstname, Another Long Title; That Could Be Short (London: Fictional, 2016)

¹Firstname Lastname, Long Title; That Could Be Abbrev (London: Fictional, 2016) p2

²Firstname Surname, Another Long Title; That Could Be Short (London: Fictional, 2016) p3

³Lastname, p999

⁴Surname, p4